

Caution Asked Of Drivers on College Campus

Some of the dangers of fast, reckless driving on West Texas State College campus was pointed out last week by Dean Mitchell Jones. The dean said that approximately 200 students owned and operated their own cars. He also pointed out the fact that the 12 mile per hour speed limit on the campus is a state law.

The dean explained that he was fully aware that a great deal of the speeding and reckless driving was done thoughtlessly. Whether it is done thoughtlessly or willfully, there is still the possibility that it may result in a death or serious injury.

For that reason the school officials and law enforcement authorities will be working together to keep reckless driving off the campus.

It was also explained that it was not the desire of officers nor school officials to hand out tickets and collect fines. Their main interest is to protect the pedestrian.

Only a few years ago this condition prevailed at the public school west of town, Dean Jones explained. The plea for cooperation was heeded by the general public and driving in that area has been more careful since then.

School officials, as well as law enforcement authorities, hope the driving problem on the campus will receive the same cooperation and be solved as easily.

Funeral for Mrs. Robert McGee To Be Held Today

Mrs. Robert McGee, 76, died Sunday night in Pampa where she has made her home with her sister, Mrs. C. C. Sharp, and brother, George Cass. While she had not been in good health for several weeks, it was not until late Sunday that she became seriously ill and soon died following a heart attack.

The funeral will be held Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the First Methodist Church in Canyon where she was a member while a resident of Canyon. Interment will be in Dreamland Cemetery by the side of her husband who was buried here in 1938.

Mr. McGee was depot agent in Canyon from 1912 until 1938.

Three children survive, Cass McGee, a printer in Los Angeles, who learned the business in The Canyon News plant; Virgil McGee, with the State Highway Department in Borger; and Mrs. R. B. Drew of San Bernardino, Calif.; seven grand children and two great grand children. A daughter and son preceded her in death.

During her residence in Canyon Mrs. McGee was very active in civic and church work. She has visited friends here upon several occasions during the past few years.

Aliens Picked Up By Officials Here

Five Mexicans were picked up by Chief of Police "Doc" Camp Monday night on suspicion of being in the United States illegally. One of the five was proven to be a citizen, but the other four had entered illegally and were turned over to the officials early Tuesday morning.

Law enforcement officials are constantly on the lookout for the Mexicans who enter the United States illegally. The common name for them is the wet-backs, a name which was given because they swim the Rio Grande River to enter the states instead of making the required legal entry.

Police officers keep a close watch on the Mexicans who enter illegally for such activities as bootlegging and dope smuggling. Those picked up by policeman Camp Monday night were found to possess several cases of beer and a gallon of wine. State highway patrolmen from Lubbock took charge of the four who were in the United States illegally.

N. C. P. T. Field Consultant To Speak at WTSC

During the month of February many Texas colleges will be honored by one day visits from a field consultant of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. The consultant, who will be in Canyon at West Texas State College February 20, is Mrs. Ellen Dell Bieler.

Mrs. Bieler's qualifications in this field are very extensive. Her experience includes child welfare activity and civic affairs. She is a parent, an educator and a community leader who for years has devoted much time to church and community work. In this work special emphasis has been placed upon the training of youth and children.

When the two daughters of Mrs. Bieler were growing up, she was active as a parent and as a teacher and at the same time she was active in other work which included Girl Scout leadership and consultation work.

Mrs. Bieler's professional training in the fields of psychology and human relations especially qualifies her as a consultant in parent-teacher work.

During undergraduate days at Teachers' College, Columbia University, she majored in psychology and philosophy, and later received a master's degree in human development at the University of Chicago. At present she is a member of the Association of University Professors and of other professional and educational organizations.

In the practical field as a teacher Mrs. Bieler has taught psychology at Elmhurst College and La Grange Junior College, served as guidance director of the public schools of Western Springs, and also taught school in that city. For several seasons she was in charge of health and hospital services at children's summer camps.

Extensive travel is another factor which helps Mrs. Bieler attain a greater degree of efficiency in her work. She has traveled outside the U. S. in Canada, the West Indies, Panama Canal Zone, and Central America. She has also traveled extensively in this country and these travels have prepared her well for the position she holds.

Dollar Day To Be Observed Friday

Dollar Day and a large group of wonderful values will be offered the buying public again Friday. Most of the merchants in town will be offering exceptional values that will mean a special margin of savings to the customer.

This coming Dollar Day will mark the seventh month that these values have been observed since being revived last fall. Merchants have noticed a fluctuation in business trends on the days of Dollar Day value. These trends are easily explained as they usually result from perfectly obvious reasons.

Early in the fall when the newly revived Dollar Day values were still in their swaddling clothes, there was a day when customer response was practically nil. This was easily explained, the weather was terrible that day. During the holidays there was a Dollar Day when business boomed beyond all expectations. This, too, was easily explained because Christmas holiday buying was in full sway.

The problems that are being faced by merchants in putting over the Dollar Day program to the public are not unique. They were expected when the program was started and they are being met intelligently.

The same challenge which met the merchants at the beginning of the program still faces them. This challenge was to offer real, honest-to-goodness values and not a lot of advertised hokum that amounted to absolutely nothing in reality. This is the firm foundation upon which the local merchants have built their Dollar Day program. Top quality goods marked down to effect a real savings to the customer.

New C of C Home Also Recreation Council Location

When the Chamber of Commerce moves into its new home, on the south side of the square, the Canyon Community Recreation Council will be sharing the new location.

About the only thing the two departments have in common is the fact that Cecil Massey is directing each in an effort to steer the community into additional progress and prosperity.

Although the Recreation Council is active the entire year, its greater activities center around the summer vacation when students are out of school. The summer activities of the Recreation Council are planned to last through the entire vacation period.

They are also of a competitive nature. Points are earned for accomplishments during the summer and when the final tournament of activities is held at the end of the summer the winners receive trophies.

"The new home will be one of the best things that ever happened to the Recreation Council," Massey said. The next most important objective for this organization will be the construction of a city park. This project is in top place on the chamber of commerce work of clinic. When the paper work of the clinic emerges into action, the park will receive top priority.

Besides providing an excellent place for summer time recreation for the entire public, the park will also give the Recreation Council a spot to conduct competitive sports.

Contract for Training of Air Force Men Has Not Been Renewed at W. T.

The Army Air Corps has not renewed its contract with West Texas State College for training of airmen in commercial courses. The contract expired Monday.

There was a feeling prevailing on the campus that the Air Force might not renew the contract in view of the slow process by which men have been inducted into this branch of the service, and the fact that 32 colleges in the nation have been graduating a group of 25 men each during each week since the program started.

"There is no reason to expect a renewal," stated Dr. James P. Cornette. He went on to say that all of the colleges training the military men have been notified that when the present contract expires there will be enough trained men in the service to train the other men needed in this capacity.

Under the nation-wide plan, each contracting college was sent 25 men each week to study for a

Homer Ewton Has Joined the Sheriff In South Amarillo

A new peace officer went to work for Randall County in South Amarillo, Monday morning, January 28. The new deputy is Homer Ewton. Ewton fills the vacancy left when Charlie Oates resigned several weeks ago.

Oates, who had been a peace officer in Randall County for several years, recently resigned his position in South Amarillo to work with the Potter County officers. Charlie Oates served as chief of police here before going to Amarillo.

A Spokesman for the sheriff's department said that Ewton had very little experience as a peace officer but went on to say that the new deputy had an excellent record in another field. A great load of responsibility has been taken off the local officials by the recently filled position in Amarillo. While there was no deputy in South Amarillo the members of the sheriff's department here was kept very busy trying to keep their territory adequately watched and at the same time keep an eye on South Amarillo.

It was agreed to extend the contract of John McCarty as concessionaire of the Park for a term of five years.

Bufs Lost First Game of Season Tuesday Night

The Buffalo basketball team defeated Texas Western at El Paso Monday night by a score of 60 to 52.

The Bufs lost the first conference game of the season Tuesday night when the boys played New Mexico Aggies at Las Cruces by a score of 44 to 49. The Aggies led throughout most of the game and near the end staged a freeze which kept the Bufs away from the goal.

The Bufs will leave next week for a trip through Arizona which will likely decide the championship of the Border Conference. Arizona University will be played Feb. 7 at Tucson; Arizona State at Tempe on Feb. 8; and Flagstaff on Feb. 9.

Frequent Fires, Curious Folk Create Problem

Local law enforcement authorities revealed Friday that keeping within 500 feet of a fire truck when it is on the way to a fire is a violation of a state law.

It was also pointed out by deputy sheriff Lem Pounds and Chief of Police Doc Camp that parking within one block of the fire is also a state violation. These laws do not pertain to members of the fire department who have to drive their own cars to the scene of a fire.

Authorities said that the last time there was a fire there were so many cars about it that the fire trucks were delayed in fighting the fire. In fact, one or two cars were brushed by the trucks in getting to the scene, the deputy sheriff said.

During the recent past, fires have been occurring in alarming numbers. On Tuesday night, January 22, there were two fires and the fire sirens also heralded two fires again Friday afternoon.

Most of these fires have been of a minor nature, but with the high winds which have been blowing the fires could easily get completely out of hand. In fact, it is probably the efficiency of the volunteer department that has kept the minor fires minor, it was remarked.

At least once during the recent past, law enforcement officials have stopped a car carrying volunteer firemen. In order to keep this from happening again, the authorities are working on a system whereby firemen can be immediately distinguished. This could be done with a sign attached above the license plate of the car.

Legislative Men To Seek Continue In Present Posts

Both Senator Grady Hazlewood and State Representative Morris Cobb indicated Saturday that they were candidates for re-election to their present posts in the legislature.

Hazlewood is a veteran in the Senate and, according to observers, is one of the soundest men in that group. His district has been reduced in size, but Randall county remains in the north district of the Panhandle.

Representative Cobb stated that he would be a candidate from the new district of Potter county. This will eliminate him as the representative of this county. Cobb has completed his first term in the House.

Under the re-districting bill which was passed by the last session of the legislature, a florid district will be composed of Potter, Randall, Carson and Armstrong counties. No candidates have announced from this district. It is rumored that two or more candidates are considering making the race.

Earth More Than Two Billion Years Old Says Scientist

Jack T. Hughes, new instructor in Anthropology and Geology in West Texas State, spoke Tuesday at the Rotary Club luncheon on the work in his sciences. He was presented by C. Boone McClure, curator of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Museum.

"Of all the sections in Texas, the Panhandle is the most resourceful in these two sciences," stated Hughes.

Various phases of anthropology were discussed by the speaker. Geology is the best known of the sciences among laymen. There is a vast field for work in this science, but geology has long been associated with the oil business.

Both science is a "History of the life in the past," stated the speaker. While the scope of geology is usually confined to past 5,000 years, it is estimated that the world is at least two billions years old.

Visitors were Leo Forrest and Hugh Bookout of Hereford; Henry Butcher, Art Jordan, E. F. Myers, Bill Dooley, E. R. Blair, Jr., and Rabbi Arthur Blum, all of Amarillo.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

A Few Observations As The Days Roll By

We were invited to Pampa Wednesday night for the Eisenhower dinner which was sponsored by former Congressman Ben Guill. We refused the invitation for a perfectly sound reason: That is, the reason was sound so far as we are concerned. It may sound like treason to others.

As we previously stated, while we like General Eisenhower, we are not going to accept him without knowing more about his thoughts on public questions. We would not object to voting for a Republican, as reasonable as this may sound to some life-long Democrats, but we are not willing at this time to buy sight-unseen any candidate for public office.

If Eisenhower expects to win, he must come back and make himself very clear on public questions.

Furthermore, we are not sure that Eisenhower, or any other Republican can defeat President Truman, should he get into the race.

Right now the big job for all Democrats is to defeat Truman if he seeks the nomination. Until that is done, the country will still be in danger of the Truman forces.

Defeat Truman, and then we shall be able to say whether or not we are interested in bolting the Democratic ticket in November in favor of a Republican. We are still of the opinion that we shall support any Republican if Truman is the nominee.

This is a Republican battle. Let the GOPers settle their own dispute and try to get the strongest man for the job. After the Democratic convention, if the President is still in the running, we shall determine our course.

Does this make sense?

We believe that every Democrat has too much at stake to be bolting the ticket at this time and declaring in favor of any Republican candidate.

We heard the announcement of Attorney General Price Daniel Monday night.

We liked his straight talk. He did not hesitate to give his views on prevailing questions, especially his opposition to President Truman.

The Attorney General makes a good speech. He is direct in his approach and does not hesitate to express his opinion.

As the matter now stands, he has an excellent chance to defeat Senator Connally, if the temper of the voters does not change in the passing months.

A recent visitor in Washington returned with the statement that Senator Connally planned to make a vigorous campaign for re-election this summer. He intends showing the voters that his health is not poor, as he has been pictured by so many reporters who have visited with him.

With a younger, vigorous man in the race, Senator Connally will have to show the people of Texas that he is able to stand up to hard campaigning. This campaign will be no push-over, and the voters are in no mood to accept empty promises, or denials on the part of any candidate.

On with the battle! There will be a hot time in Texas for those who have a poll tax receipt.

The death of Hon. Pat Neff recalls to mind an incident of many years ago while he was serving as Governor of Texas.

Governor Neff visited West Texas State, together with members of the Board of Regents. While he was served with a summons from the Potter County grand jury to appear before that body to explain why he had pardoned a convict from Potter county.

Needless to say the Governor was furious. What he said would almost burn this paper if repeated.

Accompanied by Miss Magie Neal, then a member of the Board of Regents, it was the happy privilege of the Newsman to take Governor Neff to Amarillo to catch the train. The nearer we came to Amarillo, hotter were the words which rolled from his lips. He could not understand the audacity of a grand jury in summoning a Governor to explain his official actions.

Miss Neal stepped into the fray and advised the Governor that if he ignored the summons the jury might have him taken from the train and he would be forced to spend the night in Amarillo. Finally he was convinced that he should go to the old court house to face the grand jury.

When the Governor came back to the car in about 10 minutes his face was flushed, and those members of the grand jury who accompanied him looked like a bunch of sheep killing dogs which had been caught in the act.

His only comment was, "I told that bunch off in no uncertain language."

It was probably the first and last time that any Governor of Texas was ever called before a grand jury to explain why he had followed any particular course in his official acts.

It was the privilege of the Newsman to serve on other boards with Governor Neff in following years. He was always a most courteous and gentlemanly gentleman at all times.

Texas is a better place in which to live because of the life of Pat M. Neff. Peace to his ashes!

Grain dealers, who have played fair with the government, are becoming peeved that so much publicity is given to the wrong doing of the small group which is charged with swindling the government out of grain stored with them.

The grain dealers demand that prosecution be the treatment of the guilty few. Instead of prosecution, the rule is for the government to huff and puff and threaten, and then do nothing. This is the story of mink coats, deep freezes, 5 percenters, and internal revenue grafters.

No one takes great pride in the punishment of wrong-doers, but they prefer to see them tried and convicted in criminal court rather than have the names of innocent men implicated when classes of individuals are concerned.

We advise that if the President wants to see the wrong-doers of the nation punished he should set about the job by thoroughly investigating and convicting those whom have been charged with misconduct in public office.

Since the Eisenhower boom has gotten underway we see a great deal more praise for Senator Taft than is customary at this stage of the game. The feeling seems to be growing that Taft would make the stronger candidate of the two.

The honesty and sincerity of Taft is having a decided good effect upon people of the nation. There seems to be no foolishness about him. If he is elected President, there will be a decided change in attitude as now exists in the White House. The people will know who is boss, and who is responsible in our government.

All that we are hopeful of is that the Republicans will nominate a good, strong, clean man when the national convention is held.

Something that we overlooked entirely: February Dollar Day which comes up on Friday, February 1, of this week.

In the rush of getting the paper out last week, this item was escaped and we failed to mention this coming event.

Get your dollars out and put them to work for Dollar Day on Friday of this week.

Something that the people cannot understand: That there has been no change in the publication date of The Canyon News.

We started publishing the paper on Wednesday two years ago but did not change the publication date lines from Thursday to Wednesday until this January 1st. The deadline for news and advertising remains just the same.

What no one understands: Why the new field house on the campus is not jam packed for every basketball game. While Burton Gym was in use, many stayed away because there was no room. Now the new gym has ample seating capacity, but the folks still stay away. Habit? Perhaps.

What no one understands: Why there are business and professional folks in Canyon who have not contributed one single penny to the Chamber of Commerce; and why do many of them rush away from home to do their trading. Any town which is capable of producing a living for any person should be honored by that citizen as a good place in which to invest his money and to do his trading.

Think this one over.

Whenever the citizens of Canyon decide to put something over, the job is as good as done, but there is a tardiness sometimes in making up local minds.

This is the time of year we usually plan luxurious vacations in far-away places, to be financed by money to be saved between now and summer.

After all the predictions of shortages of appliances and this and that, you can still buy about what you want if you put the cash on the counter.

The beauty of some operas continues to elude us, though its production may well represent considerable talent and years of training.

One of the most objectional sins we know of is the intentional use of degrading and untrue remarks for social purposes.

It's about time to start making vacation plans for 1952, which you will want to change several times before summer.

One of the mysteries of the era is how the drug stores still sell ice cream cones, in many areas, for a nickel.

Next Sunday is a good day to go to church and listen to the sermon. If you can't listen, go and go to sleep.

The average individual seldom weighs gossip intelligently and is eager to believe anything sensational.

The bright sayings attributed to babies are usually what mother thinks up after junior has gone to sleep.

The difference between getting a big salary and a little salary is the question of accepting responsibility.

The scientists tell us even the stars and planets might not be neutral in a third world war.

For most people, high ideals arrive late in life, after financial security or a guilty complex.

What's become of that friend who borrowed a few dollars from you a month or so ago?

The law should know no favorites; when this is the case, the law has no excuses to make.

The greatest "take" in the country is that of the insurance companies on home mortgages.

Freedom is what one claims for himself without always being willing to grant it to others.

Brain work is often derided but there are many individuals who cannot do much of it.

The editor knows these shots are not strokes of genius but the column must be filled.

Why is it a fat pedestrian is always in the middle of the street when the light changes?

There's something to that title: "It's Hard To Believe She's Never Been Kissed."

It is easier to tell a neighbor the proper thing to do than to follow one's own advice.

Some movies these days are the best motivation for television expansion we know.

Most humans could improve their minds by doing more listening and less talking.

The best way to lose a friend is to lend him more money than he can repay.

Those who make straight A's in college are not always smart students.

Most readers of wit columns are unrecognized geniuses at that art.

The fight for acceptance in "society" is a good one to stay out of.

Life is a question of checks and balances — to be exact, bank balances.

This being an election year, you can rule a depression out.

BOYCE HOUSE

Memories from the days when "I took Hollywood by storm" the winter of 1939-40, as technical advisor and writing consultant on "Boom Town".

There were odd signs like "Whoopie Drug Store" and "Wing Sing Laundry."

Pronunciation was queer. The way Los Angeles people said, "Look at it" sounded like "Look ut ut" and "Look at him" was "Look ut um."

There was one shop which sold nothing but fishing supplies and it received daily reports as to where the fish were biting. And if you didn't catch anything, they had fish you could buy.

And there were all kinds of studios — acting studios, singing studios, dance studios, piano studios and slenderizing studios.

An incident which gives an insight into the character of Teddy Roosevelt:

When he was running for Vice President on the ticket with William McKinley, the hero of San Juan Hill was to speak in Denver. Now, free silver was an important issue in that mining city; William Jennings Bryan, the Democratic nominee for President, was for it; the Republican candidates were against it. Party leaders in Denver advised Roosevelt to "soft-pedal" the matter or, better yet, keep still on it.

There was a big crowd and when Roosevelt had been introduced, T. R.'s first words were:

"Ladies and gentlemen, I am opposed to the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1."

He paused. There was a moment of silence—and then came a roar of cheering in tribute to a man who had the courage to express his convictions.

Some every-day expressions go back a long time. "Count one's chickens before they're hatched" appeared in print in 1579; "dead as a doornail," 1593; "feather one's nest," 1590; "to have one's fling," 1624; "elbow grease," 1785, and "a bone to pick," 1565.

Steel companies in the U. S. in 1951 produced 105,200,000 net tons of steel ingots and castings, which nearly equaled the total of all other countries, which produced 119,500,000 tons.

ZITA H. D. CLUB ENJOYED ALL DAY MEETING JAN. 22

The Zita Home Demonstration Club enjoyed an all day meeting in the Wayland Angel home Tuesday, January 22.

An attractive buffet luncheon was served at the noon hour. After lunch the various committees met to plan work for the year. The regular business meeting followed with president, Dorothy Olsen, presiding. Juanita Gruner gave a tentative budget, and Ila Jennings reported on the program committee's work. Donabell McCormick gave a completed hostess list for the year.

Mrs. Fred Marshall was a special guest from the Central Club. She demonstrated the method of making nylon corsages.

Ethel Micheal talked on "Sex Education in the Schools." Helen Truax reported on "Institutional Care for Delinquents," and Mary Gruver described a visit in an honor system prison in Missouri.

The meeting was adjourned with the serving of coffee and cookies. Guests present were Mrs. Fred Marshall, Sally and D. C. McCormick, and May Upchurch.

Regular members present were Dean Angel, Geneva Fulton, Juanita Gruner, Mary Gruner, Ila Jennings, Donabell McCormick, Ethel Micheal, Dorothy Olsen, Esther Olsen, Martha Olson, La Vada Rose, Helen Ruthart, and Helen Truax. Next meeting will be with Ila Jennings.

MONYA THURMAN HONORED WITH BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. T. M. Thurman recently honored her daughter, Monya, with a birthday party, on Monday, January 21.

The group enjoyed playing indoor games and basketball.

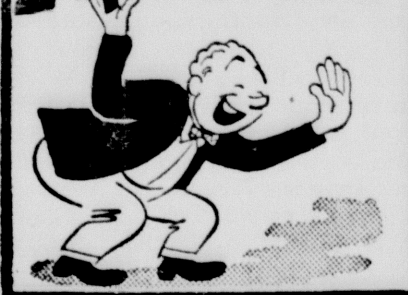

Monya, who was 11 years old, received many nice gifts.

Refreshments of cake, ice cream, and punch were served to Carolyn Ann Glazener, Tommy Marshall, Suzanne Lemons, Katherine Ann Morris, Ann Jarrett, Nancy Keeling, Kay Humphreys, Bernice Green, Duke Jennings, Margarette Jenifer, and Garry Thurman.

Mrs. W. E. Parker of the Pyramid Sales Co. flew to Los Angeles Monday, January 21, to attend a five day Gift Show for wholesale distributors. On her return trip she will stop in Tucson, Ariz., for a day's business conference and then will board the plane for a trip home.

Mrs. T. M. Thurman recently visited with Mrs. George Roberson in Amarillo. Several years ago Mrs. Thurman and Mrs. Roberson were neighbors in Plainview.

LAFF LINES

SURPRISE!

A young doctor, who hung up his shingle in a small town, waited for his first patient. Some days later one arrived—covered from head to foot with an angry dangerous-looking rash. The puzzled young medico hastily consulted his textbook but could find no help there. Finally he said to the patient, "Did you ever have this affliction before?"

"Oh, sure, Doc," the patient replied, "I've had it twice before."

"Well, damnation," diagnosed the doctor, "you've got it again."

Swap About

We should exchange problems. Everyone knows how to solve the other fellow's.

Habit

Captain—Here, here, sergeant, what's the idea of putting all the big men in the front rank?

Sergeant—I guess it's just habit, sir; I used to run a fruit stand.

Smart Shopper

Woman to toy-department clerk: "It must interest an eight-year-old boy and yet be simple enough for his father to play with."

Casualty

St. Peter: "How did you get here?"

New arrival: "Flu."

EMILY WOULD BE AGHAST

Little Johnnie, having been invited to dinner at the home of a playmate, was cautioned by his mother to watch his manners. Upon his return home, his anxious parent questioned him concerning his behavior. "Oh," said Johnnie, "I didn't get into any trouble," adding as an afterthought, "Only one thing went wrong." "What was that?" queried his mother. "Well, my steak fell on the floor." "How dreadful," his mother exclaimed. "I hope you apologized for the accident." "Don't worry, it was all right," replied Johnnie brightly. "I just said 'that's always what happens when the meat is tough.'"

Not Worth It

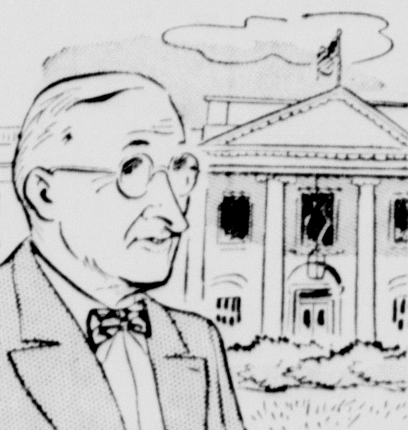

One secretary to another: "The trouble with coming to work on time is that it makes the day so long!"

Logical Reason

He: "Why do you weep and snuffle at a picture show over the imaginary woes of people you never met?"

She: "Same reason why you scream and yell when a man you don't know slides into second base."

BAD BUSINESS

The salesman was trying to sell a men's furnishings shop some new goods. "Sorry," moaned the proprietor, "but business is bad!"

"That's funny," said the salesman, "Harry Truman says business is very good!"

"I can't help that," said the proprietor. "Maybe Truman's got a better location."

ALMOST CONVINCED

Jeb, accused of stealing chickens, was taken before the judge. His lawyer made such a stirring plea that Jeb was acquitted. Outside the courtroom his friend turned to him and said, "Jeb, did you or didn't you steal those chickens?" "Well," replied Jeb, "to tell the truth I thought I did, but after hearing that there lawyer, I'm darned if I know whether I did or not."

Unappreciative

"How was the applause, Garrymore?"

"Teddyb. It sounded like a caterpillar in sneakers stomping across a persian rug."

Business in 1951 reported little changed from 1950.

DRAFTEE-TRAINING

It costs about $3,600 and takes approximately eight months to make a draftee into a soldier, ready for overseas service, according to an Army estimate. This covers the cost of such items as his physical examination, travel to a nearby reception center, processing him with "shots," outfitting him, travel to a basic training center, basic training (an average cost of $2,700), processing him again for overseas shipment, and overseas shipment.

Asked what was the big idea, he replied, "I'm looking for a sponsor."

U.S.D.A. Sums Up Data On Feeding Potato Culls

Feeding cull or surplus potatoes to livestock is a sensible, profit-making move for both growers and feeders, a U. S. department of agriculture survey of experiments at state agricultural colleges and elsewhere shows. Dairy and beef cattle, hogs and sheep have been fattened successfully using potatoes in the ration.

Here are some of the highlights of the federal findings, summarized for North Dakota by North Dakota agricultural college extension service.

About 400 to 450 pounds of fresh potatoes are equal to 100 pounds of an average grain mixture.

Potatoes are about equal to good corn silage in feed value and have about one-third the feed value of alfalfa hay.

They contain twice as many digestible nutrients as wet beet pulp or beet tops.

It appears you can safely feed dairy cows up to 35 pounds of potatoes a day, preferably with high-protein legume roughage to offset the low-protein potatoes. You can substitute potatoes for all or part of the corn silage, part of the grain mixture, or part of the hay.

For beef cattle, potatoes are sometimes used in fattening rations and may be used in a wintering ration. They may replace part of the hay and grain, and may be gradually increased from three or four pounds per head daily at the start up to 20 pounds.

Fresh potatoes are well suited for both fattening lambs and wintering ewes as part of their feed. Potatoes are equal to corn silage for fattening lambs, and some commercial feeders claim that potatoes fed to ewes immediately after lambing make the ewes' milk heavier.

As for hogs, cooked potatoes make an excellent feed. Raw potatoes are worth only one-half to two-thirds as much in feed value for swine. You can steam them in large kettles or in a covered dump truck for about 30 minutes, and then store them in a silo without adding any other material. Cooked potatoes may replace up to one-half the grain mixture usually fed.

Glaucoma May Hit Dog After Emotional Upset

Emotional upsets in dogs may lead to a serious eye disease known as glaucoma.

The disease results in hardening of the eyeball due to pressure caused by an abnormal increase of fluids within the eye, and blindness may follow.

Belief that emotional instability plays a part in the disease is founded on observations that glaucoma is more common in certain breeds of dogs and in certain individuals known to be highly excitable. A very exciting weekend may be instrumental in bringing on an attack of glaucoma.

In some cases, forced rest and quiet are enough to return the dog's eye to normal in a day or two. In other cases, however, the wrought-up dog refuses to rest and aggravates itself into such a nervous condition that glaucoma symptoms develop.

Glaucoma also may follow an infectious disease such as distemper or an injury to the eye, or it may be brought on by a continued state of poor health.

Selection of Farm Pumps

The best made pump on the market is not satisfactory (for irrigation and drainage) if it is not selected to fit the job. Poor selection of pumps without adequate attention to engineering principles may result in such inefficiency that power costs will be three or four times as much as necessary. Even more serious, a poorly adapted pump may not give enough pressure for good irrigation regardless of the power used.

Pre-Homeric Alphabet

American small fry, learning their 26-letter ABC's with modern methods of word study, can be glad that reading and writing have come a long way toward simplification in the last few thousand years. An alphabet of 74 phonetic characters and more than 50 ideographic signs was in use during the pre-Homeric period of the Greek King Nestor, according to a recent report by a University of Cincinnati archeologist who for some years has been literally digging into the subject.

Increases in Families

The number of families in the United States increased by 175 per cent between 1890 and 1940, while the population as a whole gained 110 per cent. Families with not more than three members increased from 52 per cent of the total number in 1930 to nearly 58 per cent in 1940. While the proportion of four-person families held steady, families with five or more persons fell from 31 per cent of the total in 1930 to 25 per cent in 1940.

Removed Old Putty

Old putty can be removed by passing a hot soldering iron or a red-hot poker over it. Do not let the iron touch the glass, or it might crack. Or, cover the putty with soft soap and allow it to stand for several hours; it can then be removed with any sharp instrument.

No let-up in industrial construction foreseen in next 2 years.

Plains Pioneer Dies of Stroke In California

An early settler of the Plains country passed away Friday, January 19, in Gridley, California. This plains pioneer was John Henry Pipkin, son of the late J. C. Pipkin.

Many of the old timers of this vicinity will remember J. C. Pipkin as one of the owners of the big-4, a general merchandising organization here in Canyon. This establishment is believed to have been one of the first of its kind in this part of the country.

John Henry Pipkin worked for the big-4 merchandising outfit before going to California. He made his home in Gridley, California. He had been there about 35 years before he was taken by death.

The news of the 73-year-old pioneer's death came to the Panhandle by way of a telephone call. The precise cause of death was not given in the call, but it is believed to have been a heart attack. It was a sudden death following no prior illness.

Pipkin, who was a horticulturist before retiring several years ago, is survived by three sons and two daughters in California; two sisters, Mittie E. Workman of Canyon and Euna Wilson of Prior, Okla.; one brother, Grady Pipkin of Eastland. The deceased was the uncle of Ethel Mullins, Randall County District Clerk.

PRESBYTERIAN WOMEN'S AUXILIARY MET RECENTLY

The Presbyterian Women's Auxiliary held its first meeting of the new year Tuesday in the home of Mrs. N. A. Croson. Nine members were present.

The meeting was opened with prayer, followed with the minutes of the last two meetings. The business of the club was next on the agenda of the program.

Mrs. Ed Harrell gave the lesson from the first chapter of John and Mrs. L. A. Donnell gave the foreign lesson from the Spanish speaking Americans.

Delicious refreshments of sandwiches, cake, coffee, and candy were served by the hostess.

Next meeting will be with Mrs. Ed Harrell.

Jas. G. Patton, president, National Farmers Union, criticizing county farm agents: "Their contacts are generally limited to a clientele of farmers, usually the more prosperous, while the farmer who needs technical help most seldom if ever sees the agent."

Motion Picture Explains Federal Reserve System

The history and philosophy of the federal reserve system and the methods by which it is designed to cushion the effects of economic upheavals are explained in a new educational motion picture.

In layman's language, the film, The Federal Reserve System, points out the disastrous effect a money panic has on the economic system and how a temporary money shortage, such as that in 1907, could have been eliminated by a federal banking organization.

The origin of the federal reserve system in such financial crises is examined and its development in the debates of 1912-1913 period are shown in dramatic sequences from the lives of Woodrow Wilson, Carter Glass, and other American statesmen who led the fight for national banking legislation. The third section of the film discusses the 1935 period when the federal reserve act was modified to provide additional security against a depression such as that of 1929.

The film describes how the reserve system can influence economic stability by increasing or decreasing the rediscounting rate on commercial paper; changing the legal requirements on the ratio of reserves to deposits in the member banks and by its own buying and selling of government securities on the open market.

The story of the federal reserve system is told in the film through the use of dramatic incident plus the use of a few animated drawings. In the production particular emphasis was placed on casting to achieve as great a similarity as possible between the actors and the characters portrayed.

A great portion of the dialogue in the film is historically authentic, having been taken from reports, biographies, diaries, and other sources of exact verbal records. Many of the sets used in the film also were reproduced to be authentic to the last detail.

Modernization of Homes Reduces Scald Fatalities

Here's evidence that the good old days in some respects weren't so good after all. Forty years ago the loss of life through scalds or burns was seven times as high as it is today. Even as recently as the period of 1936 to 1940 the average death rate was double that of 1949.

The improvement is due largely to the modernization of the American home with its improved heating, cooking, and lighting facilities.

The trend reflects in some measure the effect of consistent and widespread education for safety, and the marked advances which medical science has made in the treatment of severe burns. But most important has been the passing of the old fashioned coal or wood stove, the kerosene lamp, and other hazards of past years.

Even now burns and scalds claim about 4,600 lives yearly in the United States, and many additional thousands suffer serious and disfiguring injuries which do not prove fatal.

Lightning Reading Machine

A proposed reading machine which could search the entire library of congress in ten seconds, select all the information on a given subject, and print selected abstracts at the rate of ten a minute, was described to the American chemical society division of chemical literature in Chicago recently. Five thousand times faster than an existing device called the Rapid Selector, which is said to have searched 50,000 references in five minutes, the proposed machine might become the nucleus of a jointly-supported documentary project, financed on a subscription basis. The machine would make it possible to furnish bibliographic searches in response to any request by return air mail, giving an overnight service to information users.

Land of Cotton

With a population three times that of the United States, every individual in India is clad in cotton fabrics. India is the world's only important producer of jute—on which the world relies for almost all its sacks, its containers for wheat, corn, rice, sugar, etc. Seventy-five per cent of the jute is grown in Pakistan as is also much of the cotton of the Indian Union and Pakistan. Most of the mills, however are within the Union of India.

Manufactured Amino Acids

More is to be heard about amino acids because these organic compounds make up proteins. Their synthesis by modern chemists holds out a promise for a more nutritional diet for both man and animal—and they are destined to play an important role in building new tissues and in speeding recovery for the patient in many types of surgery.

How Farmers Learn

When the farmers of Vermont were asked to name their usual sources of agricultural information, 48 per cent mentioned papers and magazines. Other sources of information were: state extension service, 34 per cent; friends and neighbors, 21 per cent; worked out information for themselves, 11 per cent; radio, 6 per cent; and from government programs 4 per cent.

Lions See Film On Growth of Plains Industry

Cliff Mlinar of the Southwestern Public Service Company supplied the program for the Lions Club last Wednesday. The Lions saw a picture entitled "High Wide and Handsome." The title referred to the Plains country.

An elderly cowboy was shown riding across the plains. He was telling the story of how the Plains only had a few cowboys and a lot of cattle when he came here. Cattle ranching was the first huge industry and the Plains proved so productive in this capacity that it drew other industries like a magnet.

The improvement that has taken place in industries has also been portrayed in the picture. Naturally the picture was pointing up the importance of electricity produced by the Southwestern Public Service Company. Due credit was given to other industries also. The one big industry which helped the Plains mushroom into civilization was that of petroleum. A lot of space in the picture was dedicated to petroleum and its by-products.

It was also pointed out in the picture that Lubbock is the third largest inland cotton market in the U. S. Other large income farm products were mentioned. These consisted of wheat, grain sorghums and many truck farm products.

The picture went on to explain about the new plant that the Southwestern Public Service Company is building near the little town of Earth, Texas. The huge plant is strategically located in order to give better electrical service to the entire Plains territory.

The picture showed the contrast between early methods of farming and the modern machine method of today. The installation of electrical power line into the rural sections of the country was also shown.

The film ended after the old timer told of coming to the Plains and seeing the great changes take place. He and the people like him turned the sod of the plains into a huge fertile garden to produce a great many of the food needs for the entire country.

In addition to these needs, the Plains country produces a great many of the petroleum and other mineral needs of the United States.

The technician who operated the projector in order that the Lions could see the picture was Dale Thut.

The Lions also entertained five guests; they were, Glenn Hatfield, Amarillo; Bill Patke, Bob Clark, Dennis Lyle, and Holmes Ambrose, Canyon.

Windbreak Trees Are Now Available

Red cedar seedlings for windbreak plantings may still be ordered from the Texas Forest Service for $1.00 per hundred, according to Lou Ella Patterson, county home demonstration agent.

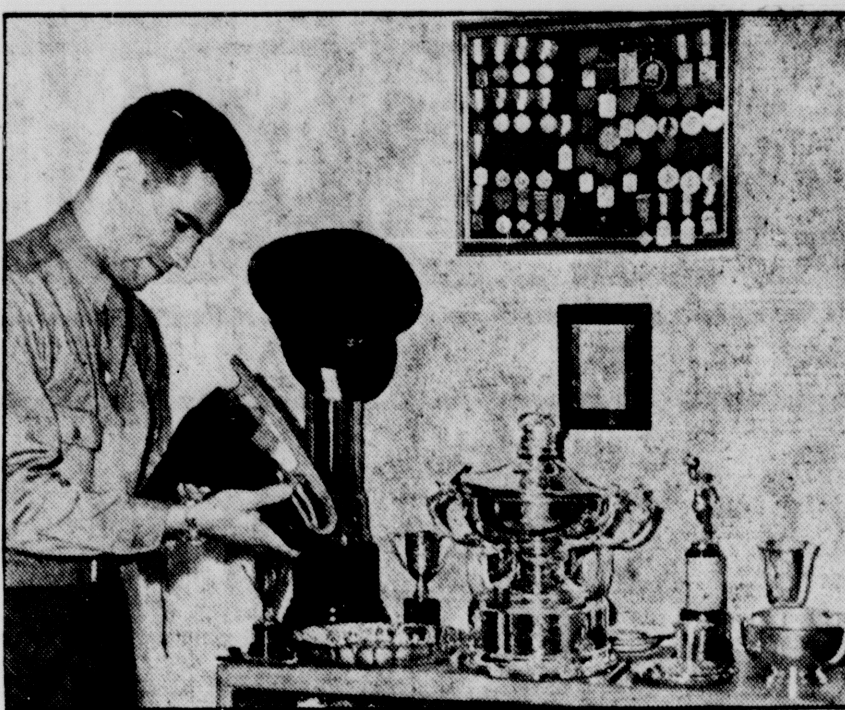

Families planning a windbreak planting for next year would do well to get trees now and put them out in nursery rows in the garden to be transplanted to windbreaks next year.

The red cedar is an exceptionally hardy evergreen and well adapted to this country. They should be planted about ten feet apart in the windbreak and rows far enough apart to allow them to be worked by farm machinery. They do need cultivation and care to keep weeds and grass from choking them out the first few years.

Blanks for making orders may be obtained at either the county home demonstration agent's or county agricultural agent's office. Other seedlings available that are well adapted here are elm and thornless honey locust.

HOME BUILDING

Home building during 1952 is due for a cut, according to Henry H. Fowler, new head of the National Production Authority, because of an expected shortage of plumbing, hardware and other building supplies.

GI TO GET OLYMPIC TRY—If all goes well for Cleveland John M. McGean during tryouts for the U. S. Olympic figure skating team, the U. S. Army will be represented at the Oslo, Norway, winter games. Though only a Private, McGean's generalship on ice, evidenced by the medals and trophies above, won him a special leave in which to train for the tryout.

JOBS FOR THE DIME

I was thinking the other day, as I looked over my fishing tackle, one thing a dime will still do is tighten a reel on a rod and open the fluid compartment on a cigarette lighter.

John Deere Day To Give Public Lunch and Show

A free meal and a free show are to be given the public Thursday, February 7, by the John Deere Implement Company. It's John Deere Day, an annual affair that's designed to give the public a better understanding of what this company is doing to advance farming methods.

E. R. (Dutch) Cleavinger, owner and operator of the John Deere Company here, said that the local dealer footed the bill for everything except the cost of the picture. He explained that the free show is supplied by the John Deere Company, but the cost of the theater and the lunch is paid for by the local dealer.

The free lunch will begin at 11:30 Thursday morning, February 7. There will be a period of about one hour and 45 minutes devoted to eating and then the folks at tending the annual affair will be ushered over to the theater where the free show is to begin at 1:15 p. m.

The feature picture is "Galadad Jones," and it is hailed as an excellent family picture. The picture gives starring roles to four people. They are: Marjorie Lord, Richard Crane, Elizabeth Patterson, and Jonathan Hale.

Cleavinger said the feature picture was good family entertainment and had nothing in it pertaining to farm machinery and equipment. Then he went on to say that there were several short subjects to be shown which would demonstrate the value of John Deere implements. He said these short subjects were shown because many of the farmers are interested in the various kinds of new farm machinery and the advancement that is being made in this field.

ASKS $100,000 DAMAGES

Brazil, Ind. — Robert Sankey, of Terre Haute, has been named as defendant in a suit for $100,000 damages. It seems that Sankey's three-year-old son, left alone in the family automobile, started the car accidentally, causing it to crash through a fence and injure Kenneth Hammond, a neighbor. The girl's father brought the suit against Sankey on charges of negligence in leaving the key in the car, in failing to lock it and in permitting his son to play in the car. The girl suffered a broken leg as a result of the accident.

Gen. Omar Bradley, Chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, and his fellow staff chiefs are increasingly uncomfortable as it becomes clearer that they have had their legs pulled by the Communists. This country's military chiefs, still hard on the Communist hint of a truce in Korea.

Senator Brien McMahon, of Connecticut, withdrew from the Illinois Democratic primary when advance "dope" showed he might lose to Kefauver. The President, who pushed McMahon into the race, still resents the way the Kefauver crime investigation helped defeat Senator Scott Lucas in Illinois two years ago.

When Mr. Churchill finally agreed to a U. S. admiral as commander of allied forces in the North Atlantic, he really gave the signal for this country to go ahead with development of bases in Greenland, Iceland, the Azores and Bermuda.

BOYS "MAILED" SELVES

Roanoke, Va. — Two 11-year-old Washington D. C. boys, John Sunday and Wilbur Yoho, were playing near Washington's Union Station and decided to investigate a U. S. Mail car on a siding. They suddenly found themselves locked in. The next thing they knew, they and several thousand pounds of mail were rolling along the tracks. The train arrived in Roanoke, Va. the next day but was not opened immediately because of a heavy volume of mail already in Roanoke. When the car was opened, out stepped the boys. They're back at home and not in a mood to play in trains.

KILLED IN FREAK ACCIDENT

FREDERICK, Md. — After 26 years in the U. S. Cavalry, William T. Coughlin, 45, returned to the family home near New Market, Md., five weeks ago only to be fatally injured in a freak automobile accident. A truck driver slapped on his brakes when a car in front of him started to turn off the highway. The truck careened out of control, sideswiped another car and then crashed head-on into Coughlin's car which was coming from the opposite direction.

Senator Estes Kefauver, of Tennessee, is surprising his party by the show of strength he is turning up in the grass roots. The White House group no longer is laughing at the Tennessee "crime buster" as a candidate.

Just Between You, Me and ... the Gatepost

The first month of 1952 is about to become history; that's the trouble with new things, they don't stay new very long. So, if you plan to enjoy 1952 and haven't started yet, you've lost almost a full month that can never be made up. One of the best ways to enjoy yourself is to help others. You can do that by contributing to the March of Dimes during these final days of the drive.

The Chamber of Commerce is losing no time in getting the activities started. Some of the projects named in the work clinic last fall are already receiving attention. The program was to start with 1952 and Cecil Massey has already been to Abilene to discuss getting the projects into the working stage. In Abilene the plans for carrying out the work projects were discussed with the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, the organization that conducted and directed the work clinic.

While on the subject of the Chamber of Commerce, it might be well to note that the organization is getting a new home. This also means that the Canyon Community Recreation Council will also have a new home. These two organizations go well together. One is working with the grown-ups of the community and the other is working with the youngsters. It seems that there has always been quite a gulf between the mature person and youth. Perhaps the combination office of the Chamber of Commerce and the Recreation Council will span that gulf and help this community to greater progress. Well, that's a thought anyway.

After enjoying the delicious dinner at Bill Sternberg's home Thursday night, Gene Davis remarked that with a few free meals like that every week, he could keep his grocery bill paid. It just goes to show how much money you could save if you didn't have to eat. Of course you wouldn't have as much fun, but look at all the money you'd save.

If you don't believe the Lions Club brings out the good in men, note what happened last week. M. D. Shepherd who is Secretary for the Tri-State Hardware Association had placed a small calendar at everyone's plate. The Lions' Tailtwister, (that's a sort of internal revenue tax assessor and collector for the club) yelled that it was advertising matter and everyone who had one would be fined ten cents. Shepherd paid all the fines by counting the members present and writing out a check for the March of Dimes drive, then and there. It takes a good Lion to take the rap for the entire club.

Next week the newly revived boy scout troop will be giving the public an idea of how fast the group is being organized. Only a few weeks ago they were still looking for a scout master. Now they have Stuart Condon at the helm and Edwin Pettit as his assistant. Even though the time was short, the scouts have been organized sufficiently to observe Boy Scout Week which is February 4 through the 9th.

The present plans for the scouts include the pitching of tents on the Court House square. All of the business men in town as well as the parents of the boy scouts will receive a special invitation to hear about the progress made by the scouts during their brief period of activity.

This joke was contributed to the column through the courtesy of Jerry Woods. What happens when a body is immersed in water? Answer, the telephone rings.

Then there was the fellow who was bemoaning his fate as a laborer and said, "ain't it awful how you have to work all day, get so tired you can hardly drag yourself home at night. Then rest up all night so you can go back again tomorrow and do the same thing over again?" Who was that guy who put his woes along this line into a song and said that "life gets tejus?" or something like that.

Wonder what has happened to all those famous last words, jokes that used to make the rounds. Remember some of the famous last words, they were, "I believe I can beat that train to the crossing," "I think I can make that traffic light," and "watch me take this curve on two wheels at 80 miles per hour." They usually ended up being more nearly last words than famous, but they did pack a terrific meaning. The warning of this meaning could still be used in places too.

Texas produced last year 978 million barrels of crude oil and 128 million barrels of liquid hydrocarbons.

A picture of the oil industry was given at a chamber of commerce meeting in Bismarck, North Dakota, by Governor Allan Shivers of Texas.

There are new oil discoveries in North Dakota and prospects for a great oil strike. The Texas governor went to Bismarck to tell people there something about the benefits and problems that exist in an oil-producing region.

Some of the governor's remarks will be of interest to Texans.

For example, there were, on December 31 last, 132,467 producing oil wells in Texas. During the last year, 10,834 wells were drilled, of which nearly 6,000 were dry holes.

Many of the wells, of course, were drilled in proven territory. The odds for a wildcatter were not so good. Last year wildcaters drilled 4,017 wells with these results: 540 oil wells, 120 gas wells, and 3,357 dry holes.

Conservation has given Texas a great deal more oil than could have been expected under open-flow conditions. The great East Texas field, where conservation practices were introduced some time after production had started, was originally expected to yield one to two billion barrels of oil. Two billion, 840 million barrels have now been taken out, and there is still an estimated three billion barrels of recoverable oil in the ground.

Conservation means much, not only to land owners, royalty holders, and oil operators, but also to the government. More than 50 per cent of the state's revenue comes directly or indirectly from oil and gas.

The federal government's seizure of submerged lands was described by the governor as a move in the direction of "centralization of government, socialization of our economy, and the nationalization of our resources."

He quoted the following language in the U. S. Supreme Court decision in the Texas tidelands case: "Property rights must then be so subordinated to the political rights as in substance to coalesce and units in the national sovereign."

The speaker also commented on the Fallbrook case, which involves thousands of small property owners in the Santa Margarita

Valley in California who are being sued by the federal government for control of their water supply on the theory that the federal government has "paramount rights" to all the water for the Marine base at Camp Pendleton.

The Christian Science Monitor said this government suit "... could mean that the United States is attempting to establish, in this obscure backwoods village, a revolutionary precedent."

Governor Shivers, in his Bismarck speech, posed this question: "Is this the next and logical step toward socialization — from 'paramount rights' over the property of states to 'paramount right' over the property of private citizens?"

Congressman John P. Saylor of Pennsylvania was quoted as saying: "The implication goes far beyond California. There is no telling when they may move into the coal fields of Pennsylvania, or into the ore fields of Michigan, or into the great central part of our country."

Regulation of the oil industry is a matter for the states to handle. Governor Shivers submitted, and the states have done the job efficiently, but:

"There seems to be something in the air or water of Washington that induces a chemical reaction against any idea that a mere state might be able to run its own affairs. Our busy little bureaucrats have an urge and a plan for the systematic extension of government in business, and of federal control in the traditional and constitutional areas of states' rights."

Wayside Items

The Wayland mission band from Plainview had charge of the services at the church Sunday a. m. They also gave a program Saturday night.

GETTING EVEN

Yells from the nursery brought the mother, who found the baby gleefully pulling small Billy's curls. "Never mind darling," she confronted. "Baby doesn't know how it hurts."

Half an hour later wild shrieks from the baby made her run again to the nursery. "Why, Billy!" she cried. "What is the matter with the baby?"

"Nothing, muzzer," said Billy, calmly, "only now he knows."

TOO MUCH SERVICE

A good little girl was hurrying to school in a state of extreme agitation.

"Please, God, don't let me be late," she murmured as the school bell began to ring in the distance.

At that moment she tripped over a stone and fell flat.

"Please, God," she exclaimed in an injured voice, she got up and dusted herself. "I didn't say 'push!'"

NO PLACE FOR CROOKS

Cleveland, Ohio. — Crooks had better leave Stowers Cafe alone. In 1933, Owner Joe Stowers, 59, chased three robbers with his revolver. In 1943 he shot and killed a holdup man. Last year, his wife, Loretta, 43, fired four shots at two bandits and recently she sent 16 shots from two automatics after two other hoodlums. They haven't yet lost a cent.

HELP THEM NOW

Have you ever seen a little boy or girl stricken with polio? It's a pathetic sight to see one of these youngsters in braces and on crutches. That is why the March of Dimes campaign is being carried on. The money received from this campaign will go directly to provide medical care and equipment needed for helping these youngsters back on the road to recovery.

Let's give all we can to this most worthy cause, for these children deserve the chance to live a normal, happy, and carefree life. It's up to us to help them towards the day when they can run and play like other children do.

Give now to the March of Dimes!

CHS PRAYER

How many of you know the Canyon High School prayer? Knowing this prayer, which was written by Joseph Findley, expresses what we all must feel in our hearts towards our alma mater.

As you read it now, think seriously about what it means to you as a student of CHS.

"All of us who have entered the fellowship of Canyon High School thank Thee, O God, for our many blessings. May we keep a good place in our hearts for every friend we have found in the classroom, on the campus, or on the field of play. May the interest and patience of our teachers towards us be like springs of hope that give us a strong faith in our best possible selves. May the knowledge we gain here be wholesome seed planted in rich soil.

Help us to keep keen in our minds the realization that our parents have sacrificed much that the school may flourish, and our lives be made more abundant.

Grant that in humility of spirit all of us may ever look unto Thee, who are The Fountain of All Wisdom; in the Master's Name, Amen."

Most of us know the school song, but the prayer is very important, too. Let's all make a special effort to learn the prayer of CHS.

LOCKER CARE

"These lockers are so small nothing will fit into them." If you have been on the first or third floor of Canyon High between classes you have probably heard a statement such as this.

The lockers are just right for books but too small for coats. Most coats won't fit into the locker unless it is a very small, short jacket.

If you are one of the unfortunate ones and you have a bottom locker, try to keep your coat from dragging the floor so the next person that comes by won't step on it.

No matter what locker you have, try to observe these suggestions which appear in the student handbook:

1. Use only your assigned locker.
2. Do not slam locker doors.
3. Keep lockers clean and orderly.
4. Do not go to lockers except during intermission period.
5. Take all materials needed from lockers to class.
6. Keep locker doors closed.

"Ole Cal has heard a few remarks lately to the effect that the students of CHS would like "CAL" to change. They asked that we write "CAL" as it used to be. In view of this we are dedicating "CAL" this week to explain why we do not have or want gossip in this column.

In the front of our school handbook is a poem. It goes like this: "He who dreams a high dream goes high.

He who dreams a low dream usually does not go high in life. He who does not dream attains success only by accident."

We are trying to keep our school paper on the same standard as our school and work toward high ideals and dreams. Gossip does not represent the student body because a gossip column requires no thought and there are plenty of students who can think.

What does someone else care who Jane or Mary went with or where they went. That is their concern and no one else's. Maybe you enjoy reading about someone's love life but did you ever stop to think that maybe Jane or John might not appreciate having their names in the paper?

Here is an example of what sometimes happens as a result of gossip in the school paper:

A girl was seen at the movies with a boy, so, promptly a reporter put it in the school paper. It was found out, too late, that the girl was supposed to have been with her girl friend; consequently, she had trouble on the home front. The girl may have been in the wrong but it was still her business.

Now we would hate to be the cause of anything like that! Things of that type cause the students to lose respect for their paper and when that happens, the high ideals and reputation of a school paper drop. We don't want that to happen.

At best, the gossip column only hurts feelings, at worst it can be much more dangerous. It is rare for any gossip column to come out without stepping a little on someone's toes. Occasionally the gossip column steps on the wrong toes and produces not hurt but angry ones.

So, try to see our side of the story, won't you? We want you students to enjoy reading our paper as much as we enjoy putting it out for you.

"CAL" would like to have your suggestions on improving "CAL." Thanks "Cal"

Dating Data

Did you ever wonder how kids in other countries dated? Here are a few examples, so see if you would enjoy dating in this way.

In Norway, girls offer to pay for their share of the date, and after the first two dates, the boys usually accept. . . . In Denmark, a boy calls the girl the same night he wants to take her out. . . . Girls in the south of Italy date only in the afternoon and always with a chaperon. . . . And a Polish girl must bring the boy home to spend an evening with her family before she may make a date with him.

When a German boy first meets a girl, he wouldn't think of inviting her to a movie because that would mean he couldn't think of any other way to entertain her. . . . In Hungary, when a boy's school is giving a dance, each boy invites as many girls as he can, so that a popular girl might have as many as ten invitations. Then the boys (not the girl!) get together and decide which three or four boys will actually take her to the dance. . . . Because families in Uruguay dine from 8:30 to 9:00 or later, dates don't begin until 10, must end by midnight. . . . Swedish boys like to bring their girls flowers before a date, always in odd numbers (three, five, seven) because they think that is good luck.

Now do you think you would enjoy living and dating in one of these countries?

It would be rather different, wouldn't it?

Eagle "B's" Dump Levelland 54-39

The Canyon Eagles "B" team defeated the Levelland "B" 54-39, January 25, in the Canyon High School gym.

Donald McDonald started Canyon's scoring with seven points before anyone else on either team tallied. At the end of the first quarter Canyon led 13-6. Levelland came from behind, but Canyon led by one point, 21-20, at the half.

The Eagles led at 38-31 at the close of the third quarter. Canyon tallied 16 points to Levelland's 8 in the last period of play.

High point honors went to McDonald with 16 points followed by Charles Miller, 13, Richard Pruitt, 11, Charles Boling, 9, and Arlen Ruthart, 5.

Canyon High School Band

The queen coronation is an annual event of the band and is one of the features of the concert. Sherma Dixon, Tysene Cox, Nelda Ruthart, and Nora Dell Ruthart are candidates for the queen this year. The choice of queen is kept a secret until the night of the coronation.

March of Dimes Contributions

March of Dimes campaign in Canyon High School Thursday, January 24, brought in a total of $14.37 from contributions by students.

This makes a grand total of $47.30 collected from pupils since the campaign began Friday, Jan. 11.

The last collection in this campaign will be taken Friday, Feb. 1.

Give now for This Fight Is Yours!

Samuelson Urges Polio Donations

"More contributions to the March of Dimes are needed to help those victims of polio, who are unable to finance the cost themselves," stated Norris Samuelson, freshman, and a recent victim of polio.

The March of Dimes, besides financing the purchase of hospital equipment also pays for the cost of care given to victims, unable to afford such expensive treatments.

Victims of polio, depending on how badly they are stricken, are in general not in the hospital for any exceptionally great length of time.

Upon the discovery of polio, patients are taken to the Parkland Hospital for a period of two weeks' isolation or the time it takes for the contagious disease to be over with. Following this, the patient is transferred to another hospital for recuperation according to his age.

Norris was transferred to the Texas Children's Hospital for children up to 15 years of age.

The polio victim, at first, is stiff and unable to move from the bed. Means of healing for the victim are obtained by hot packs, rocking beds, and exercises. These help in limbering up the body and loosening tight muscles.

During the four months which Norris spent in Texas Children's Hospital, there were at one time 20 patients, ranging from 10 months to 15 years of age. Norris, with two smaller children, was given treatments by four physical therapists and was checked from 3 to 4 times a week by a doctor.

Norris encourages all to give to the March of Dimes because "Braces, iron lungs, rocking beds, and other expensive equipment are needed for the victims who, without insurance, cannot afford the treatments. Without your contributions, who is going to pay for it?"

Students Will Go Cadillacing Along

We are smooth, easy-going, warm and oh, so pretty.

Who are we?

Why, we are the two new Chevrolet school buses which arrived from New Boston, Texas, at 10:45 p. m., January 19.

After a thorough cleaning Monday we presented ourselves to the students on buses No. 5 and 7 and our elderly brother, No. 5, replaced by one of us, will supersede No. 9.

We were very happy to hear such statements as, "It rides just like a new Cadillac," "Why, you can actually hear yourself think," and other compliments after the students first ride in us.

Revenue Bureau opens drive to keep lid on illegal betting.

The Eagles led at 38-31 at the close of the third quarter. Canyon tallied 16 points to Levelland's 8 in the last period of play.

High point honors went to McDonald with 16 points followed by Charles Miller, 13, Richard Pruitt, 11, Charles Boling, 9, and Arlen Ruthart, 5.

Bafflegab Rules Must Be Observed

During a fire drill January 24, students of Canyon High School cleared the building in two minutes. This was an improvement of one minute over the previous drill, although there was still too much talking, a factor which should be completely eliminated.

Teachers are requested to appoint a room captain and monitor for each class in the day. A list of these should be made and posted in a conspicuous place in the room.

Rules to be followed during fire drills were discussed when fire marshal, Tommie Middleton, called a meeting of the fire captains.

These are the rules to be observed:

Room Captain
Lead students out nearest exit.
In obstructed drill lead students out designated exit.

Room Monitor
Shut windows
Turn out lights
Disconnect all electrical units
Report to hall monitor
Turn in room tag to hall monitor

Students
3 bells—Fire—March out in orderly manner. Stand at your desks when 3 bells ring. March out row by row behind room captain. Remain in line.

DO NOT TALK
Teachers remain with your pupils.
2 bells—Return—March back to room.
1 bell—Halt—Stand at attention.
3 bells—After Halting—March out of building.
2 bells—Return—March back to your room.

Stricter enforcement is predicted on controlled materials.

Girls Down Tulia; Lose to McLean

Canyon Eaglettes defeated Tulia, 40-31, for the second time this year, but lost to McLean, 36-23, earlier in the week.

Eaglettes doubled their first quarter score to end the half-time with a 17 point lead over Tulia. Fourth quarter started with Tulia fighting hard for a lead. Foster and Hutte, Tulia forwards hit the basket for a total of 16 points to raise their score to a decisive 30 against Canyon's 41.

Barbara Glanton tallied 19 of Canyon's points, which named her the high honor player of the game.

Canyon, having previously beat McLean by a score of 36-25, was defeated 36-23 by the Tigerettes.

McLean tallied most of their points in the first quarter, which ended 18-5 in McLean's favor. Outstanding work on the guard's part was shown when McLean scored their score only 3 points by half-time. Barbara Glanton, high point man totaled 15 points, and Bonita Bailey scored 21 points for McLean.

Canyon's "B" team lost to McLean's "B," 35-19, with Martha McBroom heading the scoring roster with 9 points. Rae June Ford and Joann Mickey tied for second with 4 each.

Skating and playing games were the entertainment provided for the students of the sophomore class at their party held last week in the cafeteria and Canyon High School gym.

Life should not be all work. Everybody is entitled to some recreation and amusement, whether everybody gets it or not.

FLORENCE COFFEE

On Sunday afternoon, February 3, at 3 p. m., Florence Coffee, talented young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Coffee, will give her senior high school piano recital in the auditorium of the Administration Building at West Texas State College.

Florence has studied music most of her life. Her first teacher was her mother. Miss Matilda Gaume, piano instructor, West Texas State College, has taught Florence for seven years, and has prepared her for her senior recital.

Honors held by Florence are vice-president of her freshman class, member of the FHA, National Honor Society, junior play cast, cheerleader, Junior Who's Who, production staff of The Eagle's Tale and Soaring Wings for 1950-51, and was soloist with the college orchestra. She won second place in the regional journalism contests in Lubbock and as a result journeyed to Austin to the Interscholastic League State meet.

Florence will be assisted in her recital by the Canyon High School Chorus, under the direction of Miss Ada V. Clark. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Newly Organized Scout Troop 66 Plan for National Boy Scout Week

Although the local Boy Scout Troop 66 has only been organized for a few weeks, they are making great strides toward advancement. Since becoming organized they have been concentrating all efforts on getting prepared for National Boy Scout Week, February 4 through the 9.

Final days of scout week will be observed by the boys in camp style fashion. They will pitch their tents on the Court House Square and make this their home during these two days.

Before the boys set up their tents and prepare for the two-day home life under the canvas, they will be treated to a delightful banquet. The banquet is planned for the night of February 7.

Among the many guests to attend the Boy Scout banquet will be the Cub Scouts. Other guests will be parents and business men of the community. Scoutmaster, Stuart Condon, said that he hoped every business man in town and every parent of the scouts and scout-age boys would be present.

One of the purposes of the banquet is to let the local folks know what the scouts are doing. The newly organized troop is going to need the assistance of all local people.

The interest necessary to gain this assistance must, of a necessity, start with the people who are parents of scouts and scout-age boys.

Scout leaders and officials realize that the best way to get the ball rolling is to start with a banquet. It is for this reason that every effort is being made to get the entire public out to the banquet on February 7.

Chester Bowles, U. S. Ambassador to India, got a very cool reception from leaders of both parties in Congress for his idea of giving 250 million dollars a year to India for the next four or five years. Mr. Bowles discovered a feeling that leaders in India might show a little less friendliness to Chinese and Russian Communists before expecting much more help.

Leaders in Congress, trying to put over universal military training, complain privately that the "tricky" tactics of the Pentagon are hurting chances of approval. The defense establishment, as Congressmen see it, is trying to dress up UMT and sell it for something that it really isn't.

The MacArthur plan for dealing with Chinese Communists is being dusted off again by U. S. military planners just about one year after the General was fired for suggesting it. General MacArthur himself feels that the delay of one year, permitting Communists to build up, makes the plan he suggested out of date.

White House strategists are relying on an old, established technique when they encourage "favorite son" nominations in presidential primaries. Point is that a favorite son is an organization candidate. Convention delegates pledged to him can therefore be controlled and shifted to the No. 1 party choice as needed.

Ocean Ships Go Up-River To Get Iron

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Engineers in Venezuela are ready to bring a mountain through a jungle and across a sea to the United States.

Early in 1952, two of the largest dredges in the Western Hemisphere will begin gnawing their way up the Orinoco River. Ocean-going ore ships as big as the battleship Missouri eventually will follow, churning 170 miles upriver through jungle-walled wilderness to bring out the brick-red treasure of Cerro Bolivar, Venezuela's mountain of iron.

For hungry U.S. blast furnaces, dredging of an Orinoco ship channel will bring closer a tremendous iron ore reserve. One of the world's richest deposits, it lies in a wild, lonely region across the Caribbean that until four years ago was virtually unmapped and uninhabited.

Hills of Iron Ore

Between the Andes and the Atlantic, sweeping nearly the entire breadth of Venezuela, are the flat, featureless Orinoco Llanos (plains), covered with wiry grass and dotted by scrubby trees. On their southeastern flank, the savanna rises in broken mesas and low hills to the "Gran Sabana," great jungle of the Guiana highlands; to the northeast, it merges into the mangrove-choked swamps of the Orinoco delta.

Venezuela's iron district lies on the fringe between savanna and jungle. Just east of the Caroni River, tributary of the Orinoco, is one open mine, El Pao, which has already begun sending iron ore to Baltimore, shipping it down the river in shallow-draft barges.

Cerro Bolivar, west of the Caroni, is a prominent hill about six miles long, rising 1,800 feet above the plain. Until recent years, it was known as La Parida. In April, 1947, geologists discovered that the entire top of the mountain is high-grade iron ore.

With better than half a billion tons of ore already proved, the Orinoco Mining Company plans to slice off Cerro Bolivar's crest in 35 to 50-foot horizontal cuts. This open pit mine will one day be as large as the yawning Hull-Rust-Mahoning pit, champion of America's Mesabi Range. It will send some ten million tons of ore a year to U.S. steel mills before 1960.

El Dorado

Ore will move from the mine to the junction of the Caroni and Orinoco by standard-gauge railroad, traveling about 90 miles to a riverside loading port named Puerto Ordaz. From there it will follow the ship channel down the Orinoco and its Cano Macareo delta branch to the Gulf of Paria west of Trinidad.

Below San Felix on the Orinoco, port for Venezuela's centuries-old gold fields, the ore ships will pass two ancient Spanish forts atop rocky heights. These are Los Castillos, which Sir Walter Raleigh, seeking the legendary El Dorado, captured in 1618. The fracas cost the English adventurer his head.

Hegging in the delta's twisting waterways, from this point to the sea, is one of the most impenetrable jungles on earth. It is inhabited only by Guarauno (Warrau) Indians, who build their rude, palm-thatched huts on piles along the water's edge.

French Announce Nylon Stocking—Sheerest Yet

PARIS—A French manufacturer has announced what he describes as the sheerest nylon stockings in the world. The French lingerie industry has hailed the new stocking as capital victory for France, claiming, "there is nothing like this in America."

The 10 denier stockings, weighing five grams and made of a nylon thread 100 miles long, bears the name "exciting" and will cost about $4.25 a pair.

The stockings are not yet on the commercial market, but manufacturers say they are producing them at the rate of 24 dozen pairs daily. A courtesy pair was presented to all Paris fashion writers.

"Exciting" stockings, according to the makers, are almost invisible, and, despite thinness, are supposed to be strong and long wearing.

Too Fat, Too Clean, Story Of Commie Demolition Agent

WITH THE FIRST MARINE DIVISION IN KOREA—A young North Korean girl, who admitted mining several roads behind the Marine lines on the east-central front, was captured by Korean Marines in a hut containing several cases of dynamite.

The patrol was checking a village behind the front to make sure all enemy civilians had been cleared from the area when they encountered the girl.

Standing in a door frame, the girl smiled and readily assented when told that civilians must evacuate the area. But the South Korean captain became suspicious of her well-fed appearance and clean clothing in a land where rags and starvation are the rule.

A search of the hut revealed the dynamite and she confessed being a trained Communist demolition agent.

Baja California Seeking Admission As Mexican State

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The northern part of Mexico's Baja (Lower) California has enjoyed a decade of phenomenal population growth and is now seeking promotion to statehood.

Mexico at present has 28 states and three territories. The latter are Baja California, North District; Baja California, South District; and Quintana Roo, on the Yucatan peninsula. Northern Baja California, whose capital is Mexicali in the rich Imperial Valley, would become the 11th state in area and the 27th in population if admitted.

Under the Mexican constitution, elevation of a territory to statehood must be approved by the Congress. A bill to admit the northern part of the narrow, arid and mountainous peninsula that extends south from U. S. California has been sent to the national legislature by President Miguel Aleman.

The northern territory of the peninsula has an area a little larger than West Virginia. Its population in 1950 was 225,000, nearly triple that shown by the 1940 census, far outstripping gains made by any other area of Mexico.

The closest comparable increase was that of the Distrito Federal around Mexico City, the seat of government similar to the U. S. District of Columbia. Here the decade's population growth was about 67 per cent.

The proposed new state extends southward from the U. S. border to the 28th parallel, which cuts Baja California's 810-mile length approximately in half. It contains the border cities of Tijuana and Mexicali, as well as the resort center of Ensenada on the Pacific coast.

Much of the agriculture of Baja California is limited to irrigated regions in the North District, not only in the Imperial Valley, but also in the area of San Quintin Bay on the Pacific Coast, some 190 miles by road from the border.

Wife Helps Husband Trap To Augment Family Income

HALL'S LANDING, Ont.—One enterprising family is managing to defeat the high cost of living by trapping and hunting.

City life became too "expensive" five years ago for the family of Mrs. George McCluskey, so the family moved to Hall's Landing, 20 miles north of Peterborough, where Mrs. McCluskey augments the family income by helping her husband trap and hunt various kinds of animals.

On a selling trip to Peterborough she brought 11 raccoon pelts, her first results, and all bagged within three nights.

Selling the pelts, she learned, is tougher than acquiring them. After some difficulties, she managed to dispose of her first catch for $11—a buck a pelt.

Heart Ceases to Beat 25 Minutes—Man Recovers

CHICAGO—The complete recovery of a man whose heart stopped beating for 25 minutes during an operation was reported in the December Journal of the American Medical Association.

The patient, 63, was undergoing chest surgery when his color became very dark and his heart stopped beating, according to Dr. Max G. Carter, of the Boston City Hospital, Boston. Life was maintained by massaging the heart, injecting heart stimulants and applying artificial respiration.

Adequate flow of blood to the brain and heart was maintained, according to the report, by manual closing of the aorta beyond the point of exit of the left subclavian artery while the massaging was performed. The closing of this part of the main artery leaving the heart stopped the flow of blood to the lower portion of the body and forced it to the upper section and brain. In heart stoppage cases, the flow of blood to the brain is of utmost importance in order to prevent damage to the brain should the patient recover otherwise.

"The maintenance of massage at an adequate rate of around 50 to 60 contractions per minute was so fatiguing that the surgeon and the first assistant alternated for periods of five minutes each," the report said.

The patient recovered completely and was discharged 11 days after the operation. Dr. Carter stated. Subsequent examinations have shown him to be as mentally sound and alert as at the time of the operation.

Marine Mustaches in Korea Get Careful Attentions

WITH THE FIRST MARINE DIVISION IN KOREA—Marines in Korea sport the most luxurious mustaches this side of an early American melodrama. The apparent favorite is a bushy job with long, twisted points . . . the longer the better.

At first, the points presented a problem: What to use for a wax. Early experiments found collodion, chap sticks and axle grease lacking in one or more respects.

Today, however, the problem is no more, and lucky Leathernecks can twirl their prizes with the best of old villains.

The final answer—GI saddle soap.

Winston Churchill, Britain's Prime Minister, was annoyed when some official in the British Foreign Office pulled the rug out from under him after he had expressed his antagonism to the Chinese Communists. It came as a surprise when an official in London told newspapermen that the Prime Minister really did not know what he was talking about.

Senator Robert Taft is somewhat disturbed at the reaction within the Republican Party to the attacks on Gen. Dwight Eisenhower by some of the Senator's top aides. There seems to be a kickback to the suggestion that "Ike" really is a renegade Democrat trying to get into the Republican Party.

Wartime Lend-Lease, in its second year, at 7 billion dollars, was 1 billion less than President Truman is asking Congress to approve for the second year of military aid in the "cold war." Lend-Lease later rose to a yearly peak of 15 billion and leaders in Congress are wondering what a few more years of military aid will do. Military plus economic aid already is scheduled at 11 billion.

A few months ago the British were offered a long-term contract by U. S. to buy crude rubber at 54 cents a pound. They turned down the offer. Now crude rubber sells at around 50 cents and is headed lower as synthetic rubber at 26 cents a pound is available in rising volume.

WORKING ALONE

"In early days," said Lincoln, "a party of men went out hunting for a wild boar. But the game came upon them unawares, and they, scampering away, climbed trees, all save one, who, seizing the animal by the ears, undertook to hold him. After holding him for some time and finding his strength giving way, he cried out to his companions in the trees:
"Boys, come down and help me let go!"

Humoring the Wife

Warehouseman: "If I get married, my wife is going to have to have a sense of humor."
Delivery driver: "The girl who agrees to marry you is going to have to have a sense of humor!"

Plump One—"In the bus, this morning, three men jumped up and offered me their seats."
Slim one—"Did you take them, dear?"

Complete Insult

Madge (after friends' tiff)—"Of course you speak to Helen when you pass her on the street."
Mable—"Indeed I do not. Why, I don't even notice what she has on."

He—"I've a sort of feeling I've danced with you before somewhere."
She—"So have I. The pressure of your foot seems familiar!"

PLEASE NOTE

An epileptic dropped in a fit on the street, and was taken to a hospital. Upon removing his coat there was found pinned to his waistcoat a slip of paper on which was written:

"This is to inform the house-surgeon that this is just a case of plain fits: not appendicitis. My appendix has already been removed twice."

THE PRESIDENT'S BUDGET

Most of you have read the news reports concerning the size of the proposed budget for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1953, which shows an estimate in excess of 85 billion dollars. This proposed budget is an excellent example of what this country can expect if the defense program is stepped up and the demands of the people on Washington for every conceivable kind of grant continued.

The government is no different from the individuals of which it is composed, and that means every citizen of the United States. There are lots of things that many of us would like very much to have, but the reason we can't have them is because we just cannot afford them.

The same is true of the government, and it is my frank opinion that this proposed budget is something that the American taxpayers just cannot afford. It is true that a substantial trimming of this budget is going to result in many people, organizations, and communities having to give up something that they would otherwise get through federal grants if the budget was not cut.

The hard cold facts are that the demands upon the public treasury have increased to the extent that compliance with them will mean federal control of almost every conceivable phase of our daily lives.

Some of you may disagree with me, but I do not hesitate to tell you that in my opinion federal control is entirely too high a price to pay for any grant, gift or concession that can come from the federal government.

I would much prefer that we stop exerting our efforts trying to get something out of the public treasury and spend our time and efforts making our communities self-sufficient. We will get a great deal more satisfaction by this route and our communities will be much stronger. The same is true insofar as foreign aid is concerned.

This budget requests an additional sum of approximately 8 billion dollars for foreign aid. This amount supplemented by funds previously granted would mean that 10½ billions would be spent for foreign military and economic aid in 1953 and that there would be a carry-over of 4.6 billions for spending in 1954.

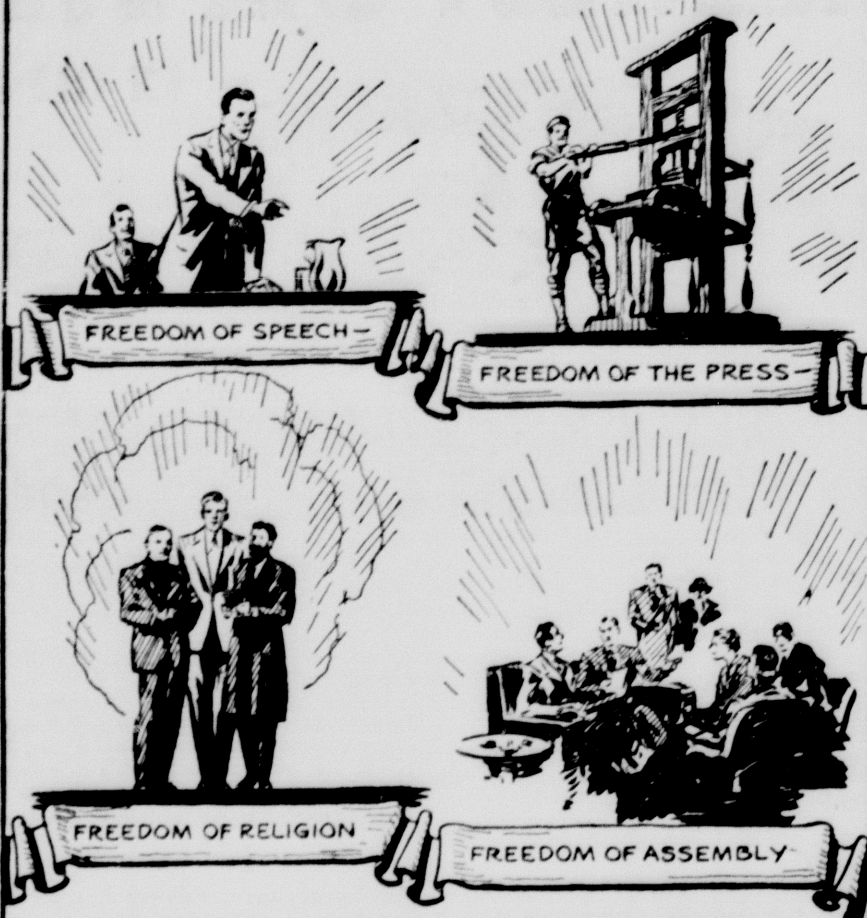

OUR DEMOCRACY—by Mat

RIGHTS and RESPONSIBILITIES

160 YEARS AGO THE FIRST TEN AMENDMENTS WERE ADDED TO THE CONSTITUTION.

THESE AMENDMENTS FORM OUR BILL OF RIGHTS.

AMONG THE RIGHTS THEY DEFEND AND MAINTAIN ARE:

THESE RIGHTS ARE THE FUNDAMENTALS OF OUR DEMOCRACY. IN THEIR EXERCISE, WE HAVE THE RESPONSIBILITY OF MAKING SURE THAT WE DO NOT TRANSGRESS THE RIGHTS OF OTHERS.

DAY AND NIGHT THESE RIGHTS PROTECT AND GUARD US IN WHAT WE THINK, WHAT WE SPEAK, AND WHAT WE DO.

THEY ARE THE FREE SOIL WE WALK ON—THE FREE AIR WE BREATHE.

The American taxpayer cannot continue to support such a heavy burden. I said this in the last session of Congress and I expect to say it again this session. The demands on Washington for grants and aids and gifts is not strictly a domestic situation. It is international.

I have always contended that the program of one country continually granting aid to another must lead to the inevitable result of weakening both countries. The donor country will be weakened because of the continual drain on its resources. The donee country will be weakened by its dependence upon the anticipated aid, and will gradually lose its desire to become self-sustaining.

In other words, such a program will jeopardize the moral fiber of the human being. The same rule can be well applied to the communities of this country who continue to seek aid from the federal government and advocate programs that cannot be self-sustaining in the respective communities.

Complete dependence of one individual on another, or of one country on another, substantially impairs, if not destroys, the freedom of both. As I said before, I shall continue my efforts for substantially reduced expenditures and against higher taxes. If you are not in accord in this respect, I would appreciate hearing from you.

The Proposed New Immigration Law

You may expect to hear a lot about how the proposed new immigration revision will put a stop to the infiltration into this country of many aliens.

Such a purpose is noble and has my full support but do not blind yourself to the fact that many injustices can be done the citizens of this country under the guise of a noble purpose. The immigration laws should have been changed a long time ago to put a stop to the illegal entry of many aliens.

This proposed law will solve that problem to a certain extent, but it still has some bugs in it. For instance, there was quite a battle in the committee to change one of the provisions of the law that could have presumed farmers and ranchers in our section of the country into the penitentiary. This provision was changed in committee whereby the particular offense referred to was reduced from a felony to a misdemeanor, but the bad part of the provision was not changed.

If the law passes as it is now written, you farmers and ranchers that use Mexican labor can expect the sanctity of your homes and farms to be invaded by federal agents armed with administrative — not judicial — warrants issued by some bureaucrats, rather than a judge.

If these bureaucrats find some alien on your place about whom you know nothing, the burden of proving your innocence will be on you rather than upon the government. You should give it lots of thought; its administration could be dangerous.

TWINS SEEK DIVORCES

Twin Falls, Idaho. — Twin brothers — Samuel David and Johnathan K. Alldritt — filed suits for divorce recently from twin sisters — Lillie Mae and Betty Norene Durham — whom they married on June 12, 1951. Their reasons — identical — the twin husbands said their twin wives were cross and quarrelsome during the brief marriages, that they no longer loved them and had left home.

RIFLE SHOT DEADLY

Washington. — A 15-year-old boy celebrated New Year's by firing his .22 caliber rifle, a Christmas gift a year ago, through the open window of his bedroom. A block away, Mrs. Ollie Estep, 41, mother of three children, was struck by the bullet, while standing in her living room, dialing her radio. She was fatally wounded.

COW EATS LIGHT BULB

Huntington, Ind. — Russell M. Stenger found one of his fine Guernseys dead in his dairy barn. In her mouth was a half-eaten electric-light bulb and socket. The cow had been electrocuted.

NEW PROBLEM FOR DAIRYMEN

"Do you keep any calves?" the new city mother inquired anxiously of the milkman.

"Why, yes, ma'am, I do," was the reply.

"Ah, good!" the young mother heaved a sigh of relief. "Then please bring me a pint of calf's milk every day. I'm afraid cow's milk is a little too strong for my baby."

Burrus' Basketball Enthusiasm Exhibited at WT-Tech Game

The Burrus brothers and their relatives are making athletic history in the field of basketball here. A note has been received by The News concerning the game with Tech in the new Field House last Thursday night. Here's the note verbatim:

Two boys sitting in the new Field House of W. T. were talking about what would happen in the Buff-Tech game for which they were waiting to see.

Said one to the other, "Just wait until those Burrus brothers get to work."

The other one started to say something when all at once his face turned a little pink and under his breath he told the one who had spoken, "we better be careful what we say, their (meaning the Burrus) uncle and aunt are sitting in front of us."

Their conversation continued about first one thing and then another.

"My gosh! We are surrounded with the Burrus' relatives, there's another uncle and aunt of their's sitting behind us."

In the meantime, across the gym on the north side, a college professor was talking to some out-of-townners and of course he was bragging on the Burfs, and he remarked about the two brothers. He said, "I believe they are both 6'6", but when he thought a moment he decided that wasn't right so he tapped a man on the shoulder who was sitting in front of him and asked, "Which one of those boys is the taller?" That man happened to be another uncle of the boys.

While waiting for the game to start a glance was thrown over the entire gym and, sure enough, Mama Burrus was discovered sitting in her favorite spot right down on the bottom seat very close to the Burfs team.

By the way, it has been remarked she is Canyon's best basketball fan, even though she walks with a cane and has to be helped, she only has missed one Buff game in the new Field House and that was due to the ice on the ground. But she was there in heart because she had her ear as close to her radio as possible listening to the game being broadcast.

A few seats behind her were the boys' other grandmother, Mama Myer, who had also left her troubles and woes behind her to see those two grandsons play ball.

There were uncles, aunts, cousins, parents, and the one sister occupying a space in each section of the gym with the exception of one and that was because there were several in the middle section.

In all total there were two grandmothers, the parents and sister of the boys, 21 uncles and aunts and 22 first cousins, making a total of 45 close relatives.

Now don't you readers think that should go down in history as one of the biggest basketball minded groups of relatives to be found at a game anywhere?

Children's Dental Health Day Set For February 4th

More than 90 percent of all school-age children in this country are fugitives from a dentist's chair, an official memorandum from the Governor's office points out.

In an effort to call attention to the fact that children's teeth are decaying six times faster than they are being filled, Governor Allan Shivers has designated February 4, as Children's Dental Health Day in Texas. Texas' observance is part of a national program of children's dental health.

"Dental decay afflicts an estimated 90 percent of school-age children," the Governor wrote into the memorandum. "Dental health of our children should be a major concern of our community."

This will make the fourth year that state health authorities and private dental practitioners have teamed together to combat widespread dental deterioration of children's teeth. The Texas State Department of Health and the State Dental Society are sponsoring the state observance.

One of the biggest hurdles to be overcome, program sponsors say, is the attitude that baby teeth are insignificant.

"They aren't," Dr. Geo. W. Cox said. "Our dental scientists tell us that first teeth have a vital bearing on the condition of permanent teeth."

The Governor's memorandum read: "The thought, attention, and efforts of those in the dental profession are concerned with preventive measures for children that they may be assured a substantial measure of lifelong dental health."

"The establishment of such preventive measures as fluoridation of public water supplies is encouraged by public health leaders as one of the dental profession's most powerful allies in improving the nation's dental health."

He appealed to "agencies, organizations, and individuals to mark the occasion" by calling public attention to the plight of youngsters' teeth.

HOW HE KNEW

A man fell into a coma and it was several days before he awoke. Later he spoke of his experience to a party of friends.

"Oh, yes," the young man said in reply to a question. "I knew all the time what was going on, and I also knew that I wasn't dead, because my feet were cold and I was hungry."

"I see," said one of his friends, thoughtfully; "but how did that make you think you were still alive?"

"Well," answered the man, "I knew that if I were in Heaven I wouldn't be hungry, and that if I were anywhere else my feet wouldn't be cold."

USE FORCE

The nurse in Scotland was trying to persuade old Mary to take some liquid food.

"Will you take some beef tea, Mary?"

"Na," replied Mary, "I couldn't tak' it."

"Would you like some hot milk?"

"Na, I couldn't tak' it."

"Perhaps you would care for a cup of cocoa?"

"Na, I couldna' tak' that either."

"Well, what about a glass of toddy?"

"Aye," responded the invalid, "Mak' it strong and mak' me tak' it."

REALLY LAZY

"Rastus, your dog seems to be in pain."

"No suh, he ain't in pain. He's just lazy."

"But surely he must be suffering or he wouldn't howl like that."

"Jes' plumb laziness, jes' laziness; he's sittin' on a thistle."

TERRIBLE

When the flood was over and Noah had freed all the animals, he returned to the ark to make sure that all had left. He found two snakes in the corner crying. They told him their sorrow. "You told us to go forth and multiply upon the earth and we are adders."

Huge industrial gains reported in the South during 1951.

An honest man, after reviewing his own life, will be inclined to let youth chart its own course.
